Dungeon Gill, Langdale. This is perhaps the most striking fall in all the Lakeland. Two pony-tracks start from the Gill to Wastdale Head and Borrowdale, and the Gill itself is frequented though not spoiled by troops of tourists. A curious block of slate has wedged itself across the Gill, thus making a natural bridge, and in summer time the Stickle water, as it tumbles, is fringed with exquisite honeysuckle.

Dear Amy,

Great excitement!
Father has just got home from a long confab with the "shining cranium" After father had wasted confidential & told him he had several girls who went to Church regular. & sat in the front. Shining cranium sent he knew & wasted confidential in turn & told hasn why he sits round the side & coughs &. also a lot more private & confidential news. He can't understand Walton people but thinks he would like to study us or rather you. (continued in our next.
